

ASBPA UPDATE

Volume 03-2012

New Board Member - Jeremy Watson, CPA, CVA

The Board would like to welcome our newest member to the Arkansas State Board of Public Accountancy, Jeremy Watson, CPA, CVA.

Jeremy is a partner of Jones & Company, LTD in Northeast Arkansas.

Jeremy is a resident of Jonesboro, graduated from ASU in 1999, obtained his CPA license in 2001, and became a CVA in 2008. He has worked in public accounting since 1999. He is a member of the ASCPA, AICPA, NACVA, and NEASCPA.

Board members are appointed by the Governor to serve 5-year terms, and are not eligible for reappointment for 5 years after the completion of their term.

Online License Renewals Now Available

The online license renewals for Arkansas opened November 5th. If we have an email address for you on file, you should receive an email reminder notification. Please, make sure an email address is provided in the Mailing Address section of the online renewal in order to receive email notifications from the Board. The Board will issue notifications by email, only.

Thank you for your service, Dale Coy, CPA

The Arkansas State Board of Public Accountancy would like to extend our appreciation to Dale Coy, CPA for his last five (5) years of service on the Board. Mr. Coy has been a dedicated member of the Board and the Board wishes him many years of successful business. Thank you, Mr. Coy!

All Licensees Must Renew By December 31st

All licensees have until December 31st to renew their license without late fees being applied. Starting January 1, 2013, a late fee will be applied automatically to your renewal. You can renew online by going to our website at www.arkansas.gov/asbpa. If a licensee has not renewed by January 1, 2013, a late fee will be applied to the license renewals for each additional month the renewal is late. If the licensee has not renewed their license by March 31st, the license will be Lapsed.

We have had great success with renewals going "paperless!" Please keep in mind that paper forms will not be an option next year for the 2013 renewals.

Registration of Firms

Please remember to register your firm with the Board, according to Ark. Code Ann. § 17-12-401-404. All entities that are engaged in the practice of public accountancy or that offer professional services and use the title "CPA" or "CPA firm" should be registered with the Board. Additionally, if you have an entity that has Accountancy in its title or list of services, please contact the Board to discuss your registration requirements.

Arkansas State Board of Public Accountancy Participating in National CPA Database

In an effort to increase the level of service for its constituents, the Arkansas State Board of Public Accountancy has elected to participate in CPAverify.

What is CPAverify? CPAverify is a national database of CPAs, developed in joint effort with state boards of accountancy and the National Association of State Boards (NASBA). It was designed as an outward-facing version of an internal CPA database that has been in operation by NASBA for many years and only available for use by authorized State Board personnel.

In its initial launch in October 2011, CPAverify included licensee data for 22 states. Additional states are being added until all 55 U.S. CPA licensing jurisdictions are included.

How does it work? The Arkansas State Board of Public Accountancy populates the database with official regulatory CPA data on a regular schedule. In most cases, NASBA receives this data from state boards on a daily basis.

How can CPAverify benefit me? CPAverify is an online reporting tool providing individuals and organizations with a centralized way to conveniently and reliably research the official license status of a CPA across multiple states without the need for conducting a search of each state board website individually. It is free to the public, and very easy to use.

To learn more about CPAverify or to conduct your own search, visit www.CPAverify.org.

CPAverify is a free, CPA lookup tool populated by data sent directly from state boards of accountancy to a centralized database, and is the first step in offering a national database of licensed CPAs.

Proposed Board Rule Changes

The Board is proposing several changes to its rules. A copy of the rules changes can be found at the link below:

http://www.arkansas.gov/asbpa/proposed_rules.html

If you have any comments about these proposed changes, please e-mail them to the Board's Executive Director - james.corley@arkansas.gov. There will be a public hearing held on April 26, 2013 for anyone who would like to address the board about any of the proposed changes.

Congratulations to our most recent successful CPA Exam candidates.

After You Pass the CPA Exam.....

It is important to understand that you CANNOT use the term Certified Public Accountant or the designation of CPA, after you pass the CPA Exam. According to Arkansas law, you cannot use the CPA designation or use the term Certified Public Accountant until you have been licensed by the Arkansas State Board of Public Accountancy. Many individuals believe that once they pass the Exam, they can call themselves a CPA—this is not accurate.

After you pass all four (4) parts of the CPA Exam (AUD, BEC, FAR, REG), your scores must first be audited by the Board. You will be notified in writing once your scores have been validated. You will be mailed a confirmation letter with instructions regarding how to apply for licensure with the state of Arkansas. This process may take a few weeks, but we will get this information to you as quickly as we can.

Engagement Letters: An Essential Risk Management Tool

As the accounting profession takes on more roles in order to remain competitive, lawsuits now delve into a wider range of issues. Although legal actions were once largely generated by tax and audit work, such actions also derive from compilation and review, write-up, and management advisory services.

Many lawsuits involving CPAs are the result of a communication breakdown (or "expectation gap") between the CPA and the client. In many situations, the client's understanding of the scope of services to be performed and how the work product will be utilized may be quite different from the CPA's understanding of these issues.

Although engagement letters are not required legally, they are strongly encouraged. A properly drafted engagement letter can serve as a helpful risk-management tool by establishing a legal framework for a working relationship with a client.

While the engagement letter itself may vary with the level of service or type of engagement to be provided, common provisions in most engagement letters include the following:

- Identification of client;
- Description of the engagement and its limitations;
- Timing of the work and staffing of the engagement;
- Client information and responsibilities;
- Designation of the party to work with the CPA;
- Identification of intended users of the CPA's work product;
- Fees and payments;
- Withdrawing from and/or terminating the engagement;
- Responding to discovery requests, subpoenas, and outside inquiries;
- Alternative dispute resolution as a means of resolving disputes;
- Where applicable, disclosures recommended or required by the AICPA; and
- Client signature.

Identification of Client

A properly drafted engagement letter should identify who will receive the CPA's services. The CPA may be working for an individual, a group, an entity, or a portion of an entity. For example, if the CPA's client is a corporation that has subsidiaries or other corporate affiliations, it may be necessary to identify the entities to be included in the engagement.

Description and Limitations of Work to Be Performed

The engagement letter should indicate what services are to be rendered. In general, the CPA should outline the procedures to be performed and any reports to be issued. In so doing, the engagement letter can help guard against the client developing unreasonable expectations about the nature and the scope of the services to be provided.

Timing of Work and Staffing of Engagement

This section of the engagement letter varies by the type of engagement and indicates when the engagement will begin and end. For example, an audit engagement may contain a provision indicating the date fieldwork will begin and end and possibly an expected date of delivery of the audit report. A tax engagement may contain a provision indicating any known filing deadlines and the parties' understanding concerning the use of extensions should the information not be received by the CPA to timely prepare the return.

Some CPA firms may indicate who will be staffing the engagement. This provision may prove helpful, for example, where a client expects to work with certain employees of the CPA firm.

Client Information and Responsibilities

In most engagements, the client is required to collect certain information and provide certain records to the CPA. If this information is necessary for the CPA to complete the engagement, these client responsibilities, and any applicable deadlines for the completion of work by the client, should be described.

For example, a tax engagement would normally contain a provision indicating it is the client's responsibility to sign and file tax returns prepared by the CPA, along with an explanation of the consequences of the client's failure to sign and file such returns.

Designation of the Party to Work with the CPA

Some engagement letters request the client to designate the party to work with the CPA. This provision can help the CPA avoid situations in which conflicting requests or instructions are received from more than one of the client's employees.

Identification of Intended Users of the CPA's Work Product

In some jurisdictions, a CPA can limit or avoid liability to third parties by identifying in the engagement letter the intended users of the work product. In addition to identifying these users, this provision often contains language prohibiting the client from distributing the CPA's work product to any party other than these users.

In deciding whether the engagement letter should contain this provision, competent legal counsel should be consulted. This is especially true for jurisdictions which have privity standards for establishing auditor negligence.

Fees and Payments

An engagement letter can help avoid fee disputes before the work begins. This section of the letter details how and when the client will be billed. It may describe the amount of retainer (if any); how the fee will be computed; when payment will become due; the client's obligation to pay promptly; and the CPA's rights should the client fail to give prompt payment.

In some cases, the CPA may charge interest for late payments. In more extreme cases, it may be necessary for the CPA to suspend work or cancel the engagement for fees not paid.

Withdrawing From or Terminating the Engagement

At times, it may be necessary for the CPA to withdraw from the engagement. The engagement letter should outline the conditions that might lead to the CPA's withdrawal and the procedures the CPA will follow in case of withdrawal.

Examples of situations in which the CPA's withdrawal from the engagement may be required include issues of conflict of interest; management ethics or integrity; or the CPA's real or apparent lack of independence.

This section should also discuss policies and procedures related to the termination of the engagement including return of client files; preparation of the final bill; work paper retention; and date of termination of services.

Responding to Discovery Requests, Subpoenas, and Outside Inquiries

Occasionally, a CPA may receive a discovery request, subpoena, or outside inquiry. While several states have established a CPA/client privilege with respect to communications, most states do not have such a privilege.

Moreover, there is no federal CPA/client privilege with the specific exception relating to tax planning. This section of the engagement letter can help avoid future misunderstandings between the client and the CPA regarding whether, and to what extent, the CPA may be required to respond to such requests.

Alternative Dispute Resolution

Alternative dispute resolution (ADR) refers to methods of resolving disputes outside of the courtroom. One of these methods is known as arbitration.

In arbitration, the opposing parties select one or more arbitrators who decide the outcome of the dispute. In most cases, the decision of the arbitrator cannot be appealed. Typically, the pre-arbitration discovery process is limited, and third parties are not bound by the arbitrator's decision.

Another method of resolving disputes outside of a court of law is mediation. During mediation, a mediator attempts to find the "common ground" that exists between the opposing parties that may lead to a mutually agreed-upon settlement. In the event the mediation is not successful, the parties, if they so desire, may litigate their dispute.

Before inserting a provision in the engagement letter regarding ADR, a CPA should consult with legal counsel regarding the provision's enforceability.

In addition, inserting a provision concerning alternative dispute resolution in an engagement letter may have insurance coverage implications. For example, while some insurers encourage the use of mediation, under some policies the use of an arbitration clause may limit or void the CPA's professional liability insurance coverage for any claims that are arbitrated.

Disclosures Recommended or Required by the AICPA

The AICPA recommends the inclusion in an engagement letter of certain disclosures for certain types of engagements. These disclosures may be incorporated into, or have an effect upon, other provisions of the engagement letter.

Client Signature

This section should request the client sign and return an executed copy of the engagement letter to the CPA. It should provide that if the client does not agree that the engagement letter accurately reflects the agreement of the parties to the engagement, the client will promptly notify the CPA.

If the client does not return a signed engagement letter, the CPA may send a certified letter indicating that, unless otherwise notified, the CPA will assume the client agrees to the terms of the engagement letter or the CPA may recuse himself or herself from the engagement. In any event, the most effective engagement letter is one signed by the client before the CPA begins the engagement.

Help Us Identify the Unauthorized Practice of Public Accountancy

Help Us Identify the Unauthorized Practice of Public Accountancy and Other Violations

If you suspect someone in your community of holding out as a CPA without a valid license, please contact the Board's office and provide us with as much information as possible so we can investigate. We are also interested in finding out about other Board rules or Law violations that you may be made aware of.

With limited staff and resources, we need your help to ensure compliance with our statutes and to ensure that the public interest is protected.

New Employee - April Murphy
